

A long-standing family home gets a feng-shui friendly makeover

French designer Iman El Zeky breathed new life into a duplex in Discovery Bay, Hong Kong, crafting bespoke pieces and introducing colours for a chic space

🕒 4-MIN READ 🔗 📌 💬 🖨️

Adele Brunner

Published: 6:15pm, 10 Dec 2024 | Updated: 6:58pm, 10 Dec 2024

It’s not always easy changing the interior of a long-standing family home. Sisters Charlene and Sophie Marri , who jointly own and run a landscape design business in Hong Kong, describe how their mother would frequently try to restyle their 3,230 sq ft Discovery Bay duplex while their father couldn’t understand why perfectly good pieces ever needed to be swapped out.

Meeting French interior designer Iman El Zeky, who runs the eponymous Iman El Zeky Studio in Hong Kong and Paris, gave them all the inspiration and confidence they needed to shake things up.

Iman El Zeky with two items she designed – a curved oak dressing table and rug. Photo: Harold de Puymorin